

Journal: Lesson 43

Is it time to “stop and smell the roses?”

Am I aware of the tendency toward “spiritual materialism?” Are there times when I have become overly involved in accomplishments, even when spiritually oriented? What happens when I do that?

What is it like to consider that the divine idea for my life has come from the Source and is supported by the Source?

How am I “the growing edge of Love?”

What are my practices for choosing to live in love and in joy?
